AUGUST A BIG MONTH.

New Work Planned in Hartford Valued at Over $351,000.

Hartford activity in the building trades continues and the business for the last month showed a big increase over the month of August, 1908. Last month the permits issued by Building Inspector Fred J. Bliss called for new work of an estimated value of $351,780, and there were 75 of them. In August, 1909, there were 64 permits issued calling for new work of an estimated value of $28,85. The Inspector issued 17 permits during the week ended Friday, calling for new work of an estimated value of $45,575.

PERSONS TALKED ABOUT

Among those already suggested for the seat of Senator Dick of Ohio in the United States senate are Charles F. Taft, Nicholas Longworth, James R. Garfield and Mr. Dick.

George Houk of Phillipsburg is alleged to have a new fruit, a combination of an apple and tomato, growing on vines. The fruit, or vegetable, whatever it may be, is striped.

Bishop Seth Ward of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, is critically ill at Yokohama, Japan. This information was received in Nashville by Dr. W. R. Lambuth, missionary secretary of the church.

Justice Harlan may also be absent, along with Justice Moody, when the United States supreme court assembles in October. He is reported to be in poor health and considering a prolonged stay in California.

From Newark comes the report that William Hamilton Osborne, author of "The Red Mouse" and many short stories, will try to get into politics by way of membership in the republican county committee, opposing one of the Colby leaders.

Dr. D. K. Pearsons of Chicago has come to the rescue of the Berea college, in Kentucky, by offering $100,000, provided the trustees raise $400,000 more. No time limit is set, and President Frost ought to be able to gather in the Pearsons gift.

Lloyd Garrison Wheeler, who died a week ago in Tuskegee, Ala., was the first negro admitted to the bar in Illinois. While living in Chicago he was interested in many charities. He had been business agent of the Tuskegee normal and industrial institute since 1903.

Colonel Peter J. McAvoy, who died a few days ago in Brooklyn, deserves a word of remembrance. He headed the marines that made an assault on the barrier forts on the Canton river in 1865, in the suppression of the Taiping rebellion, and was the last survivor of the crew.

Charles Mulford Robinson of Rochester, N. Y., has come to the rescue of Des Moines, Iowa, a city of much public spirit. Mr. Robinson will include in his general scheme the contemplated improvement of the east bank of the Des Moines river.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the American singer, appeared before a most distinguished small audience the other day in Berlin, where, at the imperial palace, she sang for the emperor and empress of Germany and King Edward and Queen Alexandra of England and a few other notable people.

Sir Matthew Nathan, the first English Jew to be made a British colonial governor, has just been made secretary to the post office in the British ministry. Put alongside of Herbert Smeeth's promotion by Mr. Asquith it shows that the race line is breaking down in the progressive political ranks of the realm.

The Duchess of Bedford, in "British Birds," gives some remarkable instances of longevity among birds in her own collection. A Barbary dove which has been in the duchess's possession for 16 years was left by an old woman who also owned it for 15 years and who always said it was an old bird when it was given to her.

George Gould's motoring trip through several European countries yielded the observation that a "real boom" has started in Italy, and that country is to be grouped with Germany as the most progressive in Europe. England seems to be lagging a little, possibly as a result of giving too much time to watching Germany's war preparations.

Mrs. Mary Crowell farms several hundred acres near Byron, Ill., and makes a specialty of hogs. For six years she has carried off first prizes with her hogs in the state agricultural fair, and there are many good looks which she releases the best hogs in Illinois. The other day she sold a drove of 50 porkers to a Chicago packing house.

Michael Fure, recently consecrated as bishop of Prtorina, received as a gift a remarkable pastoral staff. In view of the district in which it is to be used, it has been more cleverly designed, with symbols illustrative of local scenes and traditions, besides emblems of the episcopal office. It has a "stack, a dump and a headgear" to represent the mines.

On the 55,000 acres (three whole townships) that William Rockefeller owns in the Adirondacks he has a private railroad and a private railroad station, says the New York Press. Waiting there all the time is a special train ready to make a quick getaway. Forest fires are numerous in that region, and the natives thereabouts do not love the Rockefeller.

At his home in Syracuse last Monday Frank Hiscok, United States senator from New York, 1887-1893, celebrated the 75th anniversary of his birth. The ex-senator, who is still in active practice of the law, is strong and vigorous and is able to be at his office daily. Like many another statesman, he is an enthusiastic golfer, and his recreation is enjoyed almost entirely on the links.

Germany's Rapid Growth.

The population of Germany in 1882 was 45,222,113 and in 1907 it was 61,720,529. The number of persons of no occupation who were living on accumulated fortunes or on annuities or pension in 1882 was 1,354,486, and in 1907, 3,404,282. This shows the growing prosperity, thrift and wealth of the German people and the practical benevolence of "the infirmity and old age pension" systems. Though the female population is still in the majority, at present the rate of increase of male population is greater than that of the female. The increase in population is said to be due not so much to a growing birth rate as to a lessening of the death rate through improved sanitation and surgical knowledge.

The prosperity of Germany is accounted for by a "profitable home market" maintained under the protective tariff system, and at the same time an extension of the foreign commerce of the empire at a rate seldom equaled in the history of the world.—New York Christian Advocate.

The Important Thing.

There is controversy over the low temperature found by Dr. Cook. But the important thing is that he didn't get cold feet.—Springfield Republican.

Still Thwarted.

Abruzzi climbed 24,000 feet, but even at that height he failed to look into the promised land of Love.—Atlanta Constitution.

LARGE CORPORATION TAX.

Its Collection Will Commence After June 1, 1910.

The tax on the net income of corporations in excess of $5,000, authorized at its last session by congress is expected by the internal revenue collector's office for this district to be a not inconsiderable item in the revenue income of the United States in the coming year, on account of the close distribution of corporations of all kinds in this district, which comprises Connecticut and Rhode Island.

The collection of the tax is to commence after June 1 of next year, after sworn statements have been submitted to the collector's office.

After Baggage Smashers.

The "baggage smasher" has been in the limelight for many years. He has served the traveler faithfully. He has aroused the anger of travelers many times. But the peculiar privileges of his position have made him careless of criticism and impervious to attack in the guise of humor. With a train waiting to start, the traveler has little time to express his feelings when his belongings are roughly handled by the baggage man.

A Topeka item tells of action on the part of the Kansas board of railroad commissioners designed to check the destructive tendencies of these employees. An order has been issued forbidding baggage men to drop a trunk from the car door to the brick or stone depot platform. The word "platform" has received a different meaning from that of former years, as new styles of depot construction have gained favor. The passenger is aided in reaching the car steps by a movable box step placed by the brakeman or porter. The baggage is brought to the car door level on a truck made for that purpose. There is less complaint of damage to trunks when the truck is used. But when the trunk is dropped to the pavement something is likely to give way, unless the straps are strong and the bands tight.

A commercial traveler commends the Kansas action and urges similar rulings by railroad commissioners of Missouri, Illinois and Iowa. The complaints against the baggage men cannot be localized. They are heard in every state. Even the best built trunks show the effects of rough handling. If the energy of the men who handle the trunks can be restrained by rules capable of ready enforcement there will be many grateful travelers.—Chicago Tribune.

The Taft Smile.

In the center of this ponderous smile, like a calm whale in a troubled sea, stood the grandest figure in America tightening his belt around his magnificent chest. I promenade him this time by making many beautiful nods with my stomach.

"O Hon. & Serene Taft," I commuted, "I know you intimately by your foto." "I am less acquainted with yours," he says for a candid truth.

"I am not surprised by this, because all Kings is habitually ignorant." "I came, please," I say further, "to make you a Japanese interview, so you might get your name in all newspapers."

Hon. Taft give me a Smile for this. That Smile, Mr. Editor, are the most wonderful scenery I have seen in America. It are not so broad as Mrs. Sippi River nor splash as Niagara Falls. But it are more difficult to do than either of them famous works.

Senator Aldrich got a Smile like a flurry in Wall Street. Hon. Roosevelt "I am less acquainted with yours," he says for a candid truth.

Other People's Ways.

France is just now concerning itself apprehensively with statistics regarding the respective populations of France and Germany 100 years ago and today. The Marin publishes allegorical pictures showing that while in 1808 the population of France was 34,000,000, that of Germany, or rather the German states, was only 24,700,000. Today, on the other hand, Germany heads the roll with no fewer than 63,000,000, while France touches only 39,278,000.

Reopening of the quicksilver mines in Konia, in Asia Minor, which were abandoned centuries ago, has led to dramatic discoveries. The official report shows that in the depths of the mines were found fifty skeletons, with lamps, clay hammers and other tools made of stone, a quantity of arrows with stone points and a supply of charcoal. The remains are supposed on accurate data to belong to a mining epoch of 3,000 years ago.

Here is an "imperial decree" from the North China Daily News: "Decree commanding Prince Tsai Hsien, Tsai Tao, Pu Lun, etc., to offer up incense in the temple of the Great Exalted One and other shrines as a plentiful shower of rain has not resulted from former prayers offered up."

When Starvation Threatened.

Some years ago the excursion steamer returning from Alaska to Seattle dislocated (its propeller in a dreary portion of the inner passage and came to a forced stop. For two days the vessel's engineers and machinists labored to repair the break, but without success. It was discovered that the ship's stores were not abundant. Alarm bred in the minds of pessimistic passengers and the contagion spread. Starvation might mean the ship's bare help arrived. A former California official took it on himself to reassure his timid companions, but his effort was not perfectly adapted to raising drooping spirits.

added to the gloom. "Let us behave," he said. "If the worst comes and that dread necessity which in such misadventures has met others must be faced by us, let us remember that it is good to die that our friends may live. The one or more that may be sacrificed will be consoled by that thought."

There was a moment's silence, awful in its intensity, then a cheerful voice was heard. "You should be taken first, Governor Booth. You know the bravest are the tenderest." And even the terror-stricken smiled once more.
